

Call for special issue for Maejo International Journal of Science and Technology

The objective of this Special Section is to discuss new theories and applications in these fields. The Special Issue solicits paper submission in Computer Engineering and Computer Science from people who presented their original works in the ICSEC 2013 held at Windsor Suite Hotel, Thailand on Sep 4-6, 2013, with invitation ONLY.

Authors are requested to prepare a manuscript as a portable document format (PDF) file. The paper length and format are shown on the website <http://www.mijst.mju.ac.th/Instructions.htm>. The deadline for submission is Jan 31, 2014.

This special section will accept only the invited papers by electronic submission. Prospective authors are requested to follow carefully the submission process described in [<http://www.mijst.mju.ac.th/Instructions.htm>]. Please write the email with subject: Submission for MIJST (ICSEC 2013) to address icsec2013@su.ac.th.

Please note that from the regulation of the publication in MIJST:

Papers previously published in the proceedings of a conference must be extended and upgraded in content to meet the requirements of a full article suitable for a journal. Aspects of an argument different than those in the previous paper as well as new insights should be developed when certain key passages are repeated. It is unsatisfactory if the argument, examples, evidence, and conclusion remain the same but only differ in their appearance. Also, the English grammar should be carefully proofread before submission. Failure to comply with the above mention aspect will result in an automatic rejection.
